

David Evers

Commencing as an undergraduate with Love and Rodgers in 1986, completing positions as Manager with accounting firms such as Business Navigation Group, Bennell Limes and Harmer Cassin Robson, David joined Robson Consulting Group in the year 2000 and now acts as a Director.

David graduated with a Bachelor of Commerce in 1993 and is an associate member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants, a Licensed Financial Planner, a member of the Financial Planning Association of Australia and a Registered Tax Agent.

David has been providing accounting, taxation, business management, business law, financial planning, marketing and business development advice to a broad range of diversified business clients and small and medium enterprises for over eighteen years. For twelve of these years, his consulting activities have been conducted at a Manager/Director level.

Having regularly engaged in the ordinary course of duties in the valuation of shares in businesses of sole traders, partnerships, private companies and unlisted public companies engaged in the carrying on of business in Australia, David's other engagements have included determination of member Superannuation entitlements, valuations for District and Supreme Court proceedings in respect of partnership disputes, family law, personal injuries, business insurance claims and company minority appraisal along with valuations; support of lawyers in the litigation process; lending feasibilities and financial modeling and budget presentation.
